

ABOUT THE EDITORS

MICHAEL H. DAVIS heads the Minneapolis firm of Davis & Goldfarb, PLLC and represents clients in visa matters at U.S. consulates in Canada, Mexico, and other countries. His articles on visa processing have appeared in several AILA publications including The Consular Practice Toolbox and the Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook (AILA 1998–99 Ed.).

DANIELLE RIZZO received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Houghton College and a Juris Doctor degree from the State University of Buffalo in 2007. She worked as a paralegal for the Law Offices of James D. Eiss for six years, including working part-time during law school, before being admitted as an attorney in February 2007. Ms. Rizzo limits her practice primarily to employment- and family-based immigration options. She has authored several articles on immigration issues published in such publications as Bender's Immigration Bulletin, AILA publications, and AILA's Immigration Law Today. In addition, she has been featured as a speaker at AILA conferences and has been a frequent speaker at local colleges and universities about student and faculty visa issues. She currently serves as vice chair of the Upstate New York Chapter of AILA.

OLSI VRAPI is a partner at Noble & Vrapı PA with offices in Santa Fe and Albuquerque. He is a member of the 2011 AILA Annual Conference Planning Committee and chair of the AILA Board of Publications. He also has presented at various AILA conferences. Mr. Vrapı is an adjunct professor at the University of New Mexico School of Law and is a frequent contributor to the AILA InfoNet message center.
