

ABOUT THE EDITORS

GREGORY P. ADAMS (senior editor) is a partner in the Cincinnati office of Dinsmore & Shohl LLP, where he manages the firm's Immigration Practice team. Mr. Adams has served as chair of the AILA Connecticut and Ohio Chapters, has co-authored "Foreign Students and Educational Visitors," a chapter in R. Rapp, Education Law, and has authored numerous articles for AILA publications. Mr. Adams has been an editor of AILA's Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook since 1993. He is listed in An International Who's Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers and The Best Lawyers in America. He is a graduate of Middlebury College in Middlebury, VT, and Suffolk University Law School in Boston.

DAN H. BERGER (senior editor) is a graduate of Harvard College and Cornell Law School. He won the 1995 AILF Edward L. Dubroff Legal Writing Contest for an article on INS policies toward international adoptions. He is chair of the AILA Board of Publications, and has served on the AILA Vermont Service Center Liaison Committee for several years. He developed his interest in immigration in college, where he studied immigration history and taught English as a Second Language classes for adult refugees. He now specializes in serving academic clients for the firm of Curran & Berger in Northampton, MA.

JAN H. BROWN (senior editor) is a principal in the New York City-based law firm of Jan H. Brown, P.C. Mr. Brown has been practicing in the field of immigration law since 1979. He has lectured on many occasions on the subject and is also a reviewing editor for Kurzban's Immigration Law Sourcebook and contributing author to The Visa Processing Guide and Consular Posts Handbook, both published by AILA. Mr. Brown is currently chair of the Immigration and Nationality Law Committee of the New York State Bar Association's International Law and Practice Section and is an executive committee officer for AILA's New York Chapter.

LEIGH POLK COLE (senior editor) is a shareholder and director of Dinse, Knapp & McAndrew, P.C., in Burlington, VT. Her immigration practice primarily consists of representing U.S. and foreign companies and U.S. educational and health care institutions employing foreign nationals in the United States. She received a B.A. from Cornell University in 1985 in government and international trade policy, and a J.D. from Albany Law School of Union University in 1991, where she served as editor-in-chief of the Albany Law Review.

JAMES P. EYSTER (senior editor), an assistant clinical professor at Ave Maria School of Law, has practiced immigration law in Ann Arbor for 10 years. Prior to that, he served first as executive director of the Princeton-in-Asia Foundation and then in the same capacity for the University of Michigan's Southeast Asia Business Program, for which he edited the Journal of Asian Business. He is a graduate of Princeton University and Fordham Law School, where he served as editor-in-chief of the Fordham International Law Journal. Mr. Eyster is listed in Who's Who in American Law.

CARL FALSTROM (senior editor) is principal of the Law Office of Carl Falstrom in San Francisco. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Chicago and his law degree from the University of California, Hastings College of the Law. Mr. Falstrom is a former AILA Northern California Chapter chair and has served AILA in numerous other capacities. He also has been adjunct professor of immigration law at University of San Francisco and Golden Gate University Schools of Law.

TATIA L. GORDON-TROY (associate editor) is director of AILA's Publications department and managing editor of AILA's bi-monthly journal, Immigration Law Today. Ms. Gordon-Troy has been with AILA for eight years. A 1995 graduate of the University of Baltimore School of Law and member of the Maryland bar, Ms. Gordon-Troy practiced in the areas of employment, family, and administrative law as an associate with the Baltimore firm of Gohn, Hankey & Stichel prior to joining the staff of AILA. In a past life, she was deputy editor of several monthly law newsletters published by The Daily Record in Baltimore and served as press secretary to U.S. Representative Elijah E. Cummings (D-MD).

ESTER GREENFIELD (senior editor) is a director at MacDonald, Hoague & Bayless, where her practice is limited to immigration law. She is a past chair of the AILA Washington State Chapter and has taught immigration law and a seminar on VAWA as an adjunct professor at Seattle University. Ms. Greenfield has written and lectured nationally on immigration topics, with an emphasis on labor certification, and has served on local and national Department of Labor liaison committees. She was co-editor-in-chief of AILA's David Stanton Manual on Labor Certification (3d Ed. 2005), co-editor of AILA's Department of Labor Directory for Immigration Lawyers (2002–03 Eds.), and has been an editor of the Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook for many years. Ms. Greenfield is listed in The Best Lawyers in America in immigration law and the International Who's Who of Business Lawyers in corporate immigration law.

DAVID WOLFE LEOPOLD (senior editor) practices removal defense and business and family immigration law in Cleveland. He is AILA's national treasurer and has served as an elected director on AILA's Board of Governors from 2003 to 2005. Mr. Leopold is former chair of the AILA ICE Liaison Committee (2003–04), former chair of the AILA Due Process Committee (2002–03), and former member of the AILA General Counsel Liaison Committee (2004–05). He served as Ohio Chapter chair (2001–03) and is a co-founder of the AILA/AILF Litigation Institute.

RICHARD J. LINK (editor-in-chief) is a legal editor for AILA, where he is the managing editor for various AILA publications. Mr. Link received a B.A. in Language Studies from the University of California, Santa Cruz (1986), and a J.D. from the University of California, Davis School of Law (1990), where he served as senior research editor of the U.C. Davis Law Review. The bulk of Mr. Link's career has been spent in various editorial capacities for legal publishers.

NANCY-JO MERRITT (senior editor), a director in the Phoenix office of Fennemore Craig, P.C., has more than two decades of practice in the field of immigration law. Her practice is broad-based and includes the representation of domestic and international companies regarding visa and work authorization issues for foreign national employees. She also assists employers with federal compliance issues in the contexts of mergers and acquisitions and government audits. Ms. Merritt has bachelor's (1964) and master's (1974) degrees in English from Arizona State University and a law degree from the same institution (1978).

STEVEN A. MORLEY (senior editor) is a partner in the Philadelphia-based law firm of Morley, Surin & Griffin, where he concentrates in all facets of immigration law and criminal defense. He has served as an officer and chair of the AILA Philadelphia Chapter and as chair of the Criminal Justice Section of the Philadelphia Bar Association. Mr. Morley is a frequent regional and national lecturer on immigration law. He has successfully argued matters before the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals and before the U.S. Supreme Court in the decision of Mitchell v. United States, extending the Fifth Amendment right to remain silent to sentencing proceedings. Mr. Morley is an honors graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School.

ALLEN ORR, JR. (senior editor) is an associate in the International Practice Group at Baker & McKenzie, specializing in immigration law. Mr. Orr's area of practice includes the representation of businesses and individuals before the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. He is the associate editor of AILA's Global Immigration Guide: A Country-by-Country Survey. Mr. Orr graduated from Howard University School of Law.

JOHN L. PINNIX (senior editor) is a past president of AILA (2002–03) and a founding member of AILA's Carolinas Chapter. Mr. Pinnix attained B.A. and M.A. degrees in History at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and his J.D. at the Wake Forest University School of Law. This fall, he will teach at Elon University's new school of law; he has served as an adjunct professor at North Carolina Central University School of Law and as a senior lecturing fellow at Duke University School of Law. He is a principal in the Raleigh law firm Allen and Pinnix, P.A., and is a North Carolina board-certified immigration specialist.

DANIELLE M. POLEN (associate editor) serves as senior legal editor for AILA. Ms. Polen recently returned to the world of legal publishing after five years with AILA's Advocacy department, where she worked as advocacy associate for Family and Due Process Issues and legislative counsel, among other positions. Prior to joining AILA, she spent eight years as chief legislative correspondent for Interpreter Releases, a weekly information service on immigration, nationality, and related matters. Ms. Polen also has practiced immigration law, clerked for the Honorable Marvin H. Morse at the Executive Office for Immigration Review, and served as an adjunct professor in the Shepherd College Legal Research and Writing Program. She is a graduate of the George Washington University's National Law Center and the University of Texas at El Paso, and is a member of the District of Columbia Bar.

WILLIAM "BILL" STOCK (senior editor) is a founding partner of Klasko, Rulon, Stock & Seltzer, LLP. He handles all aspects of immigration law, including assisting companies and individuals in obtaining employment- and family-based visas; resolving citizenship issues and obtaining naturalization; and defending clients in ICE and DOL enforcement proceedings. Mr. Stock, who is an adjunct faculty member at Villanova University School of Law, is the immediate past chair of AILA's Philadelphia Chapter, is a past member of the AILA Board of Governors, and has received AILA's Joseph Minsky Young Lawyer Award. In 2003, he was selected for inclusion in Best Lawyers in America. He is a member of editorial boards for Matthew Bender and AILA and has authored many articles on immigration law topics.

T. DOUGLAS STUMP (senior editor) is an attorney with more than 24 years of experience in a practice focused on employment-based immigration law, complex deportation, asylum, and family immigration matters. He maintains offices in Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Mr. Stump is serving a second three-year term as one of the 21 elected directors governing AILA. He is the past president of the AILA Texas Chapter and an adjunct professor of immigration law. He serves as chair of AILA's Citizenship and Immigration Services National Security Liaison Committee and is a member of the Customs and Border Protection Liaison Committee. Mr. Stump is past chair of the AILA/Administrative Appeals Office Liaison Committee and served as a member of the AILA/USCIS Service Center Operations, Nomination, and Benefits Policy Committees. He is a past chair of the AILA Texas Service Center Liaison Committee. Mr. Stump has been listed in Martindale-Hubbell's Bar Register of Pre-Eminent Lawyers since 1996, and is recognized in Best Lawyers in America for immigration law.

