

ABOUT THE EDITORS

GREGORY P. ADAMS is a partner in the Cincinnati office of Dinsmore & Shohl LLP, where he manages the firm's immigration practice team. Mr. Adams has served as chair of the AILA Connecticut and Ohio Chapters, has co-authored "Foreign Students and Educational Visitors," a chapter in R. Rapp, Education Law, and has authored numerous articles for AILA publications. Mr. Adams has been an editor of AILA's Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook since 1993. He is listed in The International Who's Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers and The Best Lawyers in America. He is a graduate of Middlebury College in Middlebury, VT, and Suffolk University Law School in Boston.

DAN H. BERGER is a frequent speaker at colleges and universities around the northeast. He won the 1995 American Immigration Lawyers Association (AILA) annual writing competition for an article on INS policies toward international adoptions. Mr. Berger also has been an editor of the Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook since 2000, was an author/editor of the revised National Association of Foreign Student Advisers' Manual (2000), editor-in-chief of Immigration Options for Academics and Researchers (AILA 2005), and the editor of the International Adoption Sourcebook (AILA 2008). He is currently the chair of the AILA Board of Publications and vice chair of the AILA Business Litigation Committee, having recently served five years on the Vermont Service Center Liaison Committee. Mr. Berger developed his interest in immigration in college, where he studied immigration history and taught English as a Second Language for adult refugees. He is a graduate of Harvard College and Cornell Law School.

JAN H. BROWN is a principal in the Law Offices of Jan H. Brown, P.C., centered in New York City. He has been practicing immigration and nationality law since 1979 and frequently lectures and writes on the subject of U.S. immigration law. Mr. Brown is a long-time editor of AILA's Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook and editorial reviewer for Kurzban's Immigration Law Sourcebook. Mr. Brown represents clients across the immigration spectrum, from removal defense to EB-1 extraordinary ability workers. He is past chair of the AILA New York Chapter and currently co-chairs the New York State Bar Association's Immigration and Nationality Law Committee, as such he is active in efforts to reform our immigration system.

LEIGH POLK COLE is a shareholder and director of Dinse, Knapp & McAndrew, P.C., in Burlington, VT. She leads the firm's Immigration Group. Her practice consists of representing U.S. educational and health care institutions and companies employing foreign nationals in the United States, and advising F-1 and J-1 sponsors and hosting organizations on immigration for international students and scholars. She received a B.A. from Cornell University in 1985 in government and international trade policy, and a J.D. from Albany Law School of Union University in 1991, where she served as editor-in-chief of the Albany Law Review. Ms. Cole is a member of the National Association of College and University Attorneys (NACUA) and NAFSA: Association of International Educators. She is a frequent speaker and author on immigration topics. She has served as an editor of AILA's Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook since 1999.

JAMES P. EYSTER is director of the Asylum and Immigrants Rights Clinic and assistant clinical professor at Ave Maria School of Law. He currently serves as visiting assistant professor at Peking University's School of Transnational Law. Before entering academia, he practiced immigration law in Ann Arbor, MI, for 10 years and, prior to that, served first as executive director of the Princeton-in-Asia Foundation and then in the same capacity for the University of Michigan's Southeast Asia Business Program, for which he edited the Journal of Asian Business. He is a graduate of Princeton University and Fordham Law School, where he served as editor-in-chief of the Fordham International Law Journal. Mr. Eyster is listed in Who's Who in American Law.

CARL FALSTROM practices immigration law in New Orleans. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Chicago and his law degree from the University of California, Hastings College of the Law. He is a former AILA chapter chair and has served on a number of liaison, program, and other committees.

TATIA L. GORDON-TROY is director of AILA Publications. Ms. Gordon-Troy has been with AILA for 11 years. A 1995 graduate of the University of Baltimore School of Law and member of the Maryland bar, Ms. Gordon-Troy practiced in the areas of employment, family, and administrative law as an associate with the Baltimore firm of Gohn, Hankey & Stichel prior to joining the staff of AILA. In a past life, she was deputy editor of several monthly law newsletters published by The Daily Record in Baltimore and served as press secretary to U.S. Representative Elijah E. Cummings (D-MD).

ESTER GREENFIELD is a director at MacDonald Hoague & Bayless in Seattle. She is a past chair of the AILA Washington State Chapter and has taught immigration law and an immigration clinic as an adjunct professor at Seattle University. She has served on AILA's national DOL Liaison Committee. She was co-editor-in-chief of AILA's David Stanton Manual on Labor Certification (3rd Ed. 2005), and has written many articles on labor certification. Ms. Greenfield is listed in Best Lawyers in America, International Who's Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers, and as one of the top 50 women lawyers in Washington State by Washington Super Lawyers.

RIZWAN HASSAN is a legal editor at AILA Publications and serves as managing editor of Immigration Practice Pointers (2010–11 Ed.). Prior to coming to AILA, he was a science writer and editor for a National Institutes of Health journal. He earned a B.S. in Biology and B.A. in History from Boston University, received his J.D. from The George Washington University Law School, and is a member of the Maryland bar.

ROMY K. KAPOOR is a partner with the international law firm of Adorno & Yoss, also the largest certified minority-owned law firm in the United States. He has been practicing U.S. immigration and nationality law since 1992, with a broad business and family-based immigration practice. Romy has spoken and written extensively in these areas, both nationally with the AILA and for the State Bar of Georgia. He is an elected director to AILA's Board of Governors, and also serves on AILA's Business Immigration Committee. Mr. Kapoor has been named to the Georgia Super Lawyers list each year since 2006.

RODNEY MALPERT is a partner at Fragomen, Del Rey, Bernsen & Loewy, LLP in Phoenix. He is also an adjunct professor of business immigration at Arizona State Law School and formerly taught immigration law at Southern Methodist Law School. Mr. Malpert is in Who's Who Legal—The International Who's Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers. He is frequently sought for commentary, being interviewed for publications such as CNN Money Magazine, Business Week, and various newspapers. He publishes two loose-leaf treatises: Business Immigration Law: Strategies for Employing Foreign Nationals, and Business Immigration Law: Forms and Filings. Mr. Malpert is a 1986 graduate of Cornell University Law School.

NANCY-JO MERRITT is a director in the Phoenix office of Fennemore Craig, P.C. She has more than three decades of practice in the field of immigration law. Her practice is broad-based and includes the representation of domestic and international companies regarding visa and work authorization issues for foreign national employees. She also assists employers with federal compliance issues in the contexts of mergers and acquisitions and government audits. Ms. Merritt has bachelor's (1964) and master's (1974) degrees in English from Arizona State University and a law degree from the same institution (1978).

ALLEN ORR, JR. is an immigration associate in the international practice group at Baker & McKenzie. He entered private practice in 1998, and has represented numerous companies and individuals in immigration visa and compliance matters. He managed an I-9 compliance audit for a Fortune 100 company, which involved review and analysis of 250,000 employees' immigration records, and assisted employers in settling civil and criminal investigations. He received his J.D. from Howard University in 1998.

JOHN L. PINNIX is a past president of AILA (2002–2003) and a founding member of AILA’s Carolinas Chapter. He attained B.A. and M.A. degrees in History at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and his J.D. at the Wake Forest University School of Law. He has served as an adjunct professor at North Carolina Central University School of Law and as a senior lecturing fellow at Duke University School of Law. He also has served as an adjunct professor at the Elon University School of Law. Mr. Pinnix is a principal in the Raleigh law firm Allen and Pinnix, P.A., and is a North Carolina board-certified immigration specialist.

DANIELLE M. POLEN serves as associate director of AILA Publications. Prior to joining AILA, she spent eight years as chief legislative correspondent for Interpreter Releases, a weekly information service on immigration, nationality, and related matters. Ms. Polen has practiced immigration law, clerked for the Honorable Marvin H. Morse at the Executive Office for Immigration Review, and served as an adjunct professor in the Shepherd College legal research and writing program. She is a graduate of the George Washington University’s National Law Center and the University of Texas at El Paso, and is a member of the District of Columbia Bar.

RITA SOSTRIN is a founding partner of Sostrin Immigration Lawyers, LLP. Ms. Sostrin focuses her practice on immigration of individuals of extraordinary abilities as well as international physicians and researchers. Throughout her professional career, Ms. Sostrin has represented a diverse array of clients across the United States and abroad, handling all aspects of employment-based immigration for leading academic institutions, hospitals, and scientific laboratories. She frequently receives invitations to speak at national and regional conferences and to write for legal publications. Ms. Sostrin is included in The International Who’s Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers and Chambers USA. She was honored by AILA’s Presidential Award for her service as chair of the California Service Center Liaison Committee in 2008. She currently serves as the vice-chair of AILA’s Health Care Professionals/Physicians Committee, member of AILA’s Board of Publications, and editor of the Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook.

WILLIAM “BILL” STOCK is a founding partner of Klasko, Rulon, Stock & Seltzer, LLP. He handles all aspects of immigration law, including assisting companies and individuals in obtaining employment- and family-based visas; resolving citizenship issues and obtaining naturalization; and defending clients in ICE and DOL enforcement proceedings. Mr. Stock is an adjunct faculty member at Villanova University School of Law, a director on the AILA Board of Governors, a past chair of AILA’s Philadelphia Chapter, and has received AILA’s Joseph Minsky Young Lawyer Award. In 2003, he was selected for inclusion in Best Lawyers in America. He is a member of editorial boards for Matthew Bender and AILA and has authored many articles on immigration law topics.

T. DOUGLAS STUMP is AILA National’s treasurer and founder of Stump & Associates with offices in Oklahoma City and Tulsa. He has more than 27 years of experience in a practice focused on employment-based immigration law, complex deportation, federal court litigation, and family immigration matters. He has been recognized in Best Lawyers in America, Oklahoma’s Top 50 Super Lawyers, The International Who’s Who of Corporate Immigration Law, and Martindale-Hubble’s Preeminent Lawyers. He is an editor for AILA’s Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook, a frequent speaker, and author who has chaired or served on AILA’s USCIS, SCOPS, EOIR, ICE, CBP, AAO, Refugee/Asylum, FOIA/Privacy, and TSC liaison committees. He is past Texas Chapter chair and a member of IMMLAW, a national consortium of immigration law firms.

DEV BANAD VISWANATH is the principal attorney of the Banad Law Offices, P.C., with offices located in Manhattan and Queens. Mr. Viswanath obtained his undergraduate degree in psychology and philosophy from Boston University and his J.D. from Pace University School of Law in White Plains, NY. He also has obtained a certificate of concentration in international law. He is an editor for AILA’s Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook. Mr. Viswanath has represented individuals and corporations from all over the world in various stages of the immigration and nationality process, including consular processing, citizenship, permanent residence, removal/deportation and nonimmigrant visa petitions. Mr. Viswanath currently is of counsel to the Law Offices of Michael Phulwani, P.C. and to Baron and Shelkin, P.C. Additionally, he is the general counsel to International Television Broadcasting, Inc. (ITV) and the Heart & Hand for the Handicapped (HHH).

CLETUS WEBER is a founder and managing member of Peng & Weber, PLLC in the Seattle suburb of Mercer Island. In addition to serving as editor of AILA's 2010–11 Immigration Practice Pointers and associate editor of AILA's Immigration Options for Investors & Entrepreneurs, 2nd Edition, he is incoming vice chair of AILA's national Board of Publications and a member of AILA's national Topics 1 Conference Committee (EB-5 Investors). He also served as chair of the Washington State Chapter of AILA in 2005–06. With a strong interest in categories that reflect his clients' excellence, major contributions, or substantial investment in job creation and the overall improvement of the United States, his practice focuses on national interest waivers, aliens of extraordinary ability, outstanding professors or researchers, J-1 waivers, and EB-5 investors, as well as PERM and other employment-based immigrant and nonimmigrant visas. Mr. Weber earned his undergraduate degree with Beta Gamma Sigma honors at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, VA, in 1986 and his law degree from George Washington University in Washington, D.C. in 1989. He was managing editor of the George Washington Law Review, 1988–89. Mr. Weber has written and spoken nationally and regionally on a variety of topics, including national interest waivers, nonimmigrant visas, and law office management and technology issues. He has been quoted in the Seattle Times, Daily Telegraph (UK), HR magazine, Workforce Management, and other major media.