

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Lincoln Stone (Editor-in-Chief) practices immigration law at Stone & Grzegorek LLP in Los Angeles. His training includes the University of Notre Dame School of Law, a federal court clerkship with Honorable Robert A. Grant, and trial attorney experience with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. Mr. Stone has private practice experience in several areas of business transactions and litigation. He has served for five years as chair of AILA's Investor Visa Committee, and he presently serves as a commissioner of the state bar of California Board of Legal Specialization's immigration and nationality law committee. He is a certified specialist in immigration and nationality law.

Eugene Chow (Associate Editor) is the principal of Chow King & Associates, a Hong Kong firm specializing in U.S., Hong Kong, and international immigration. Mr. Chow graduated summa cum laude from Pennsylvania State University and obtained his J.D. from Boston College Law School. A member of the Pennsylvania and California bars, he has practiced law since 1976, and has been a California Board of Legal Specialization certified specialist in immigration law since 1989. He has presented at many legal conferences, has published numerous immigration law articles, and is a contributing author to all 13 editions of The Visa Processing Guide: Process and Procedures at U.S. Consulates and Embassies. Mr. Chow is listed in An International Who's Who of Corporate Immigration Lawyers, Who's Who of the Law (Hong Kong & China), and writes a daily immigration law column for the Oriental Daily News, a Hong Kong daily with a 3.1 million readership.

Eugene J. Flynn (Associate Editor) is certified in the area of immigration and nationality law by the Board of Legal Specialization of the state bar of Texas. He served as a drafter/grader for the Board's immigration and nationality law exam (1991–93) and on its immigration and nationality law advisory commission (2001–06). Mr. Flynn is licensed to practice in all Texas courts, the Federal District Court for the Northern District of Texas, the U.S. Courts of Appeal for the Fifth and Eighth Circuits, the U.S. Supreme Court, and the U.S. Court of International Trade. He has received an "AV" rating from the Martindale Hubbell Law Directory, and also has been listed in The Best Lawyers in America for over 10 years. The November 2003, October 2004, and October 2005 issues of Texas Monthly magazine identified him as a "Super Lawyer," within the top 5 percent of all Texas lawyers.

Martin J. Lawler (Associate Editor) is the author of Professionals: A Matter of Degree, a leading treatise on employment-based temporary visas and permanent resident status published by AILA. He has received AILA's Jack Wasserman Memorial Award for excellence in immigration. He lectures throughout the United States, including Harvard University, on visa matters.

Stephen Yale-Loehr (Associate Editor) is co-author of Immigration Law and Procedure, the leading immigration law treatise, published by LexisNexis Matthew Bender. He also teaches immigration law and asylum law at Cornell Law School, and is of counsel at Miller Mayer (www.millermayer.com) in Ithaca, NY. Mr. Yale-Loehr co-writes a bimonthly column on immigration law for the New York Law Journal, and chairs AILA's Business Immigration Committee. He also is a member of AILA's Investor Visa and Immigration Reform Committees. Mr. Yale-Loehr graduated from Cornell Law School in 1981, cum laude, where he was editor-in-chief of the Cornell International Law Journal. He received AILA's Elmer Fried Award for excellence in teaching in 2001, and AILA's Edith Lowenstein Award for excellence in the practice of immigration law in 2004.