

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Senior Editors

CHARLES M. MILLER helped to establish immigration law as a field of specialization in California, serving on the State Bar's first Advisory Commission as member and chairman. He was a recipient of the American Immigration Lawyers Association's (AILA) Jack Wasserman Memorial Award for excellence in immigration litigation. Mr. Miller has been recognized annually in The Best Lawyers in America since 1991. A former legacy INS attorney, he has served on the AILA Board of Directors, as Southern California Chapter chair, and as a member of the California State Bar's Board of Legal Specialization. He is a founding editor of The Visa Processing Guide, the best known U.S. consular practice reference book, now in its 15th edition. Mr. Miller is a partner in the Miller Law Offices, Studio City, CA, with Martindale-Hubbell AV and Preeminent Law Firm rankings.

JAN M. PEDERSON is senior partner at Pederson Immigration Law Group. Recognized by the Washington Post as one of the "seven leading lawyers" in Washington, D.C., Ms. Pederson has been dedicated to the practice of immigration and nationality law for more than 25 years. She served as chair of the Washington, D.C. Chapter of AILA and as an elected director of the national Board of Governors of AILA for 18 years.

DOUGLAS S. WEIGLE practices immigration law at the Ohio and Kentucky offices of Bartlett & Weigle Co., L.P.A. He has a bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Bowling Green State University in Ohio and a J.D. from Northern Kentucky University. Mr. Weigle has served four terms as AILA's Ohio Chapter chair, three years as a member of AILA's Board of Governors, and was a founding co-chair of the AILA Mentor Program and a past vice-chair of the EOIR Liaison Committee. Weigle is a member of the AILA Ohio Chapter and Kentucky branch of Mid-South Chapter. He has spoken at numerous AILA annual conferences on advanced immigration topics and co-chaired AILA's Consular Review Taskforce, playing a pivotal role in proposals for congressional and regulatory reform of the consular function.

Associate Editors

MICHAEL H. DAVIS heads the Minneapolis firm of Davis & Goldfarb, PLLC and represents clients in visa matters at U.S. consulates in Canada, Mexico, and other countries. His articles on visa processing have appeared in several AILA publications including The Consular Practice Toolbox and the Immigration & Nationality Law Handbook (AILA 1998–99 Ed.).

KATHRIN S. MAUTINO is a partner with Mautino and Mautino in San Diego, where her practice focuses on immigration and nationality law. She is certified as a specialist in immigration and nationality law by the State Bar of California, Board of Legal Specialization. Ms. Mautino writes and speaks frequently on immigration-related issues to local, regional, and national groups. During her misspent youth, Ms. Mautino lived in Tijuana as a Foreign Service dependent.

ADAN G. VEGA practices exclusively in the area of immigration and nationality law in Houston and has been board-certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization since 1985. Mr. Vega has lectured at AILA conferences and various Texas Universities. He presented testimony before a U.S. congressional subcommittee with regard to the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986; he has served as legal counsel for several foreign governments in the United States with respect to immigration issues. Mr. Vega has been involved with AILA since 1982 and has served as Texas Chapter conference co-chair on four occasions. He also has served on the AILA/DOL Liaison Committee with the Texas Chapter and on the national level. He received his B.A. from Rice University and his J.D. from the University of Texas at Austin. Texas Monthly magazine has recognized Mr. Vega in its annual list of "Super Lawyers" since 2004.

Managing Editor

KRISTINE L. TUNGOL is a legal editor with AILA Publications. Before joining the staff at AILA National, she was an associate at The Tungol Law Offices in Darien, IL, where she handled employment- and family-based petitions, as well as consular processing. Ms. Tungol speaks fluent Filipino, and draws from her own experience as an immigrant and naturalized U.S. citizen—along with her journalistic skills from a previous professional life—in contributing to a worthy crusade for immigrants' rights through AILA Publications.

Assistant Editor

KATHY JO FRAZIER, AILA Publications' Electronic Publications associate, manages the editorial work and production details for all of AILA's electronic practice resources, including AILA*Link* Online, AILA's fully searchable, web-based immigration law library. A member of the AILA Publications team for the past eight years, she also serves as editor on a variety of AILA publications. Prior to her tenure at AILA, Ms. Frazier worked as a project coordinator for one of the Health Department programs at the University of Maryland, College Park, where she graduated with a B.A. in Psychology.
