

Glimmer Train's November 2011
Short Story Award for New Writers

HONORABLE MENTIONS

in alphabetical order:

Camille Acker for "All the Things You'll Never Do"
Jennifer R. Adams for "Hadrian's Villa"
Brittany Bennett for "Butterball"
James Brown for "Swing"
Noel Carver for "Us and How It Goes"
Curtis Casella for "Paris Opera"
Caralyn Davis for "A Plague Upon Her"
Benjamin Doty for "The Cause"
Molly Epstein for "What We Should Be Doing"
Amanda Magdalene Evinger for "Little Girl Rising"
Janelle Garcia for "A Stockingful of Bullets"
Sean Gilbert for "A Sacrificial Figure"
TG Gunman for "Lewis and Clark and Me"
Timothy Gustafson for "The Boys"
Jette Irgens for "Headache Baby"
Amanda Leduc for "Man of Plenty"
Stephanie Lim for "Suspension"
Rebecca McKanna for "The Binding Problem"
Lesley Mahoney for "The Good Neighbor"
Lyndsey Reese for "A Living Layer"
David Rice for "Out on the Coast"
Daniel Riordan for "The Earth Will Swallow You"
Christopher Sanders for "How We Got to the Concert and What You Can Get on Your Hashbrowns"
Nicole Smith for "The Perfect Place"
Sue Song for "The Pike"
Jade Tsang for "A Computer Scientist"
Jessica Ullian for "The Scottish Gentleman"
Daniel Wallace for "My Arctic Circle"
Olivia Wolfgang-Smith for "10,000 Montana Relief Workers Make Whoopee on Saturday Night"

Congratulations, and thank you for letting us read your stories!

Susan! Lind