

Glimmer Train's February 2012
Short Story Award for New Writers

1st-place: Syed Ali Haider for "Scheherazade"

2nd-place: Clay Pearn for "The Way It Is Around Here"

3rd-place: Anna Chieppa for "Whatever Makes You Happy"

Top 25, listed in alphabetical order:

Tina Bartolome for "End of the Line"

Timothy Bascom for "How the Other Half Lives"

Keith Chapman for "Silo"

Daren Dean for "Affliction"

Jenny Dunning for "Slump Rock"

Rosanna Forrest for "We'll Understand It Better By and By"

Ethan Grunstein for "Old Man D'Amato and the Backyard"

Eli Hager for "A City in Africa"

Andrew Hampton for "Three Universities"

Kara Krauze for "Moscow When I Was Young"

Bob Lucky for "Notes & Instructions for Eli"

Greg Luther for "The Passengers"

Louise Marburg for "A Failure of Imagination"

Dalia Rosenfeld for "Flowers of Galilee"

Sara Schaff for "Diatomaceous Earth"

Eliza Schrader for "Tulum"

Brad Seligman for "Woke Up Strange"

Catherine Tung for "The Undeserving"

Paul Vidich for "Masks"

Steven Vincent for "From the Wreckage"

Siamak Vossoughi for "The Window"

Nathan Willis for "Bears of the World"

Congratulations, and thank you for letting us read your stories!

Susan Luid