STRONG AS A TANK, LIGHT AS A DAY PACK, FOLDS LIKE A SWISS-ARMY KNIFE. MILITARY BIKE NOW AVAILABLE FOR HUNTERS

The Mission: Stealth mobility. The Challenge: Develop ground mobility that is tough enough to drop from a plane; durable enough to traverse any terrain, move at high speeds and require minimal maintenance; easy enough to fold into a portable size yet agile enough to unfold in seconds.

The Result: The Paratrooper[®]. The News: Now available for hunters to follow the deer trails deep into the woods.

Montague Corporation, the world leader in full-size performance bikes that fold, developed the electric Paratrooper[®] Mountain Bike under funding from the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) to bridge an important transportation gap between walking infantry and heavy military vehicles.

The Montague Corporation is the pioneer of Folding Integrated Technology[™] (FIT), deemed to be one of the next-generation trends in the bicycle industry. DARPA, the Pentagon-based agency, known for its foresight and investment in significant world changing projects (including funding the development of the Internet back in the 70's) recognized the importance of this folding technology for military use and so funded the development of the TENS (Tactical Electric No Signature) Mountain bike that could be used by the military as an alternative mode of transportation.

The Paratrooper[®], Montague's non-electric version of the TENS mountain bike, is an excellent alternative to ATVs or walking. It's a stealthy, environmentally friendly, 24-speed mountain bike, which folds simply without the use of tools. It's a great way to get to the hard-to-reach hunting terrain. Coupled with a tow-trailer or rack the Paratrooper[®] is the perfect solution for carrying your gear and game.

By turning one quick release lever, the Paratrooper[®] compacts in less than 30 seconds into a 3'x3' pack for easy portability and storage. When you are travelling to and from your hunting destination, the Paratrooper[®] can be folded into a carrying case to fit neatly into the back of your truck or packed inside one of our airline cases and thrown into the hold of an airplane.

When asked what he thought of the Paratrooper and its folding technology, Chris Carmichael, Lance Armstrong's Coach said: “Think about what the walkman did for the music”. A sure sign that this is the product of the future!

The Paratrooper[®] is available for purchase at a suggested retail price $649.99. For more information call 800-736-5348 or visit our website at www.militarybikes.com.
