To whom it may concern,

Approximately a year and a half ago, I was diagnosed with macular degeneration in my right eye. At that time, my vision had distortion with straight lines. During the next six months my vision degenerated quickly. While standing in front of the mirror, I could not clearly see my own eyes. They were only dark shadows on a blurred face. The news channel I watch every day has a 'ticker tape' that scrolls across the bottom of the screen. The letters of the 'ticker tape' were harder and harder to read and eventually were nothing but a moving blur for my right eye.

About six months ago, I began changing a few things in my life. I began eating more spinach and collard greens; stopped drinking coffee and replaced it with green tea (I drink about eight cups of tea a day); and started taking the Visavite vitamins (smokers formula as I smoke).

During the past six months my vision has been getting progressively better, and I now only have slight distortion with straight lines. I can read the 'ticker tape' clearly now, even without wearing my glasses and my face is no longer a blur while standing in front of the mirror. The vision in my right eye is now as good as my left eye!

My diet of adding spinach and collard greens has not been a regular consistent change in my life. However the green tea and your vitamins have been a religious change for the past six months. I'm not sure if the results are from the green tea, the vitamins, or a combination of both but I thought you would be interested in knowing the progress of my right eye.

I appreciate your product and will continue to use it. Thank you.

Sincerely
