NOTED PET COMMUNICATORS OFFER FREE PET COMMUNICATION SESSIONS FOR ALL PETS

Available for on-site or in-studio interviews on Thursday March 19th, Friday March 20th, and Saturday March 21st.

Chantilly, VA – Super Pet Expo welcomes noted pet communicators Chuck and Suzanne Fisher March 19th through March 21st at the Dulles Expo Center in Chantilly, VA. Attendees bringing their pets to the show or pictures of their pets will receive a free two (2) minute Pet Communication session.

Chuck and Suzanne Fisher have been communicating with pets for over twenty (20) years. Suzanne first learned about her ability to communicate with other species when a chicken spoke to her as she walked through a barn. Chuck learned he could communicate with animals when he bonded with a stray cat who later came to live with the Fisher's in the 1990's. They appear around the country at various pet events. Suzanne also will be leading a Basics of Animal Communication Seminar and Pet Blessing at the show.

Many people joke that they are unsure that they want to hear what their pets have to say about them. But these doubts fall by the wayside when their pets have behavioral problems that they want Chuck and Suzanne to help solve. Some common behavioral problems include pets not eating, pets relieving themselves in inappropriate places, pets destroying furniture and pets biting or scratching people.

More details regarding Chuck and Suzanne Fisher can be found at www.petcommunicators.com.
