

A Green Way to Clean Those Toys – Posted on December 3; 5:26 PM

Posted by Erin Behan

Cleaning products are generally not very exciting, but Dapple has a new toy cleaner that makes keeping the kiddie toys both easy and safe. Unless you're at a daycare, spraying everything down with Clorox is overkill and not good for anyone, but what to do when you want the ease of a spray bottle and the safety of natural ingredients? Dapple's come up with a solution with its Dapple Toy Cleaner ($41.94 for a case of 6). It gets its cleaning power from baking soda, alongside a natural ingredient from fruits to boost cleaning, deodorize and safely remove soils, a preservative derived from natural amino acid, essence of lavender oil fragrance, fragrance dispersant and purified water. To get a $5 discount on a case, enter the code "toyspray5" at checkout.

<http://babble.com/CS/blogs/droolicious/archive/2008/12/03/a-green-way-to-clean-those-toys.aspx>