Staying Fresh, Even in the Closet Fresh Hangers

Product Review by Linda Eagleson

There have probably been many times in my life that I have looked in my closet, back of my door, or in a storage unit to find something to wear that I really needed to wear right then, only to realize that there was a peculiar odor emanating from it. Did I forget to spray it down with my ever popular air freshener hoping that would help? No, of course not, or else there wouldn't be that 'peculiar' odor.

Or, worse yet, when on a business trip where I have had to stay in dressed up all day in the only outfit I could pack for the trip and the conference room was hot, not well ventilated and everyone else was having the same concerns as I was; "We have to wear this same suit tomorrow and it probably won't smell all fresh and tidy." It would be great if my clothes would automatically remain fresh and tidy for the next day's events.

I am happy to report that I did find something that would work on those 'peculiar' odors.. I was contacted by a manufacturer, FRESH hangers, to try out their new product called 'FRESH hanger.' What this product is designed to do is eliminate those odors when we need it the most!

FRESH hanger is made from a charcoal-based product called activated carbon. Activated carbon is very porous which allows it to attract odors that have been absorbed by the material and hold on to it. It also can be used between washings or dry cleaning, keeps the closet smelling fresher, fits on all hanger types, lengthens the time of clothing since there will be less washing of the garment, is made of activated carbon which is the strongest odor absorbing ingredient in the world and is pretty reasonable in price.

So, I tried out the FRESH hanger on one of my well worn, weathered, favorite zip-up pullover to see if it works. After a day of hiking at a vigorous pace, standing in the rain while I was waiting for someone to bring me the keys to my car, and then left in a slowly mildewing heap on the bottom of the hamper.

Yes, I can honestly say that this hanger works! It absorbed those 'peculiar' smells as the pullover dried and allowed me to wear my favorite zip up the next day! It was awesome! I would definitely recommend this to anyone that wants those 'peculiar' odors to fade away. And it will last me up to six months!

FRESH hanger would be great for traveling, vacationing, in the closets at home and whenever something needs to be aired out one more time.

FRESH hanger can be purchased in quantities of five which sells for $14.99, quantities of 10 which sells for $27.99 and quantities of 20 which sells for $49.99. It is well worth the investment!
